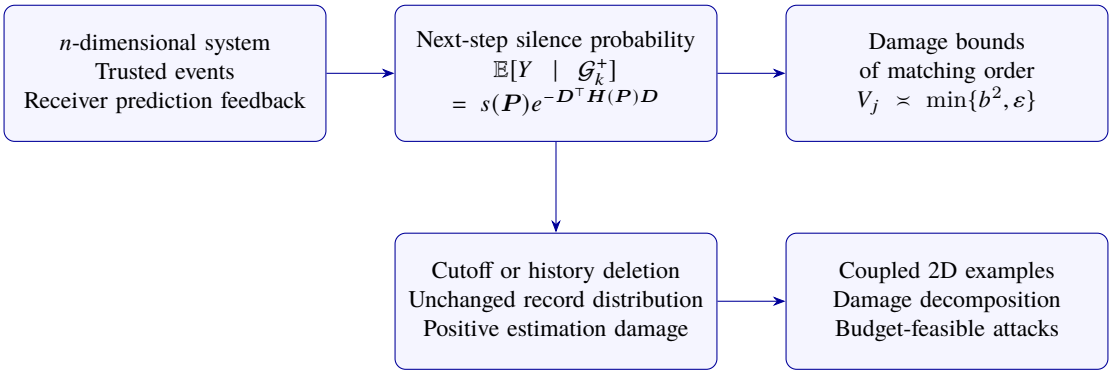
图文摘要



Trusted event records bound estimation damage through the receiver's actual prediction feedback. Under full-state noisy measurements, invertible dynamics, and fixed finite dimension, time, and amplitude range, matching-order bounds and counterexamples characterize the roles of attack budgets and retained information.